You won't want to miss this workshop on surface design with Meisha.

In her own words, "On the first day, students will make an array of small canes in a pleasing color palette to be used in creating a finished pendant. This will include my Signature "Fractured" mica cane.

Students will be encouraged to bring their own personality to the work by applying their unique color and design sensibility. I will provide color consultation to those students who need it.

The second day of the class will be for constructing the pendant. I'm a firm believer that Good Design doesn't have to be labored. I will share my simple construction and finishing techniques, so every student should go home with finished work they can be proud of."

As a winner of the Niche Award in 2008 and finalist in 2011, Barbee has been recognized as a leader in her field. A member of the International Polymer Clay Association, as well as her local San Diego Guild,

"I'm inspired by good design. I spend my life seeing and responding to good design all around me. It's just something I do naturally, so I think I'm tuned in to current trends without really trying. Color and design are my passion. I respond to the color and patterns of textiles, textures in nature and architecture, the harmonious balance of interior spaces, and so on. Good design is everywhere. I also appreciate and respect good craftsmanship. It speaks to the integrity of good design, and I always try to execute my designs with that in mind." Meisha Barbee
