Mokume Gane

syndee holt

Tuesday April 28, 2015

5:30pm - 9:30PM

Mokume Gane really has no limits – there are so many different techniques for this style and then so many color combinations. syndee's technique uses the larger ball stylus tools to create craters of color. Souffle clay particularly lends itself to this technique with vibrant colors and crisp patterns.

Use some more organic colors and create an elegant faux turquoise.

How about if you don't even slice the surface, but dig through it with the ball stylus?

Students will learn syndee's basic technique and then create rounded pendants on hollow bead molds. They will also learn how to put the slices into cabochon molds and backfill them with contrasting colors. syndee will show them how to fashion organically shaped cutters and how to use the cutters to make rounded edge to their shapes.

This class has successfully been taught to beginners as well as intermediate students with everyone having an absolute blast. All clay and tools provided.

syndee holt been an independent designer for Sculpey (Polyform Products) for over 18 years and she currently serves as the Polyform Brand Ambassador. syndee is a founding member and former President of the infamous San Diego Polymer Clay Guild. She's written over 100 articles for crafting magazines both national and internationally. In addition, she wrote Polymer Clay for the First Time, which is still available through amazon.com. syndee has also made about 33 television appearances on HGTV, Discovery, DIY, and more.
